A black and white comic book panel. In the upper left, a large, bright circular light source, possibly the moon, is visible against a dark sky. In the center, a character with a large, bushy afro hairstyle is curled up in a nest made of leaves and branches. The character is wearing a dark, long-sleeved shirt and pants. In the lower right, another character is partially visible, looking up towards the first character. The overall scene is set in a dark, forest-like environment with many leaves and branches.

A comic book panel featuring a dark, textured background. A large, glowing circular light source is positioned in the upper left. In the lower left, there is a large, ribbed, cylindrical object, possibly a piece of machinery or a biological structure. The text "WE WERE BOTH" is written in a bold, sans-serif font within the glowing circle.
